COMMUNITY COLLEGE REPORTS PUBLISHED

Reports Published. The Division of Community Colleges in the Department of Education published three annual reports in the past few months that may be of interest to legislators.

- The Condition of Community Colleges 2014 was published in January 2015. The website also includes data tables and interactive charts. The report provides information on various types of enrollment, student success rates, faculty, tuition and fees, financial aid, and revenues and expenditures.
- The Fall 2014 Enrollment Report and related data tables were published in November 2014. The community colleges enrolled 93,772 students in the fall of 2014, down significantly from the 2010 fall enrollment of 106,597 but still higher than prerecession levels.
- The 2014 Joint Enrollment Report was published in February 2015. According to the report, Iowa ranks first among the 50 states in providing college-credit opportunities to high school students. The report includes statewide revenue and revenue by community college for concurrent enrollment and post-secondary enrollment options (PSEO) students.
